January 2013

World Archery President

The World Archery President Prof Dr Ugur ERDENER, who is also a Member of the International Olympic Committee, was elected in the World Anti-Doping Agency Executive and Foundation Board for three years. He represents ASOIF on both bodies.

Athlete of the Year

The Olympic bronze medallist Mariana AVITIA is the Athlete of the Year 2012. The 19-year-old Mexican was selected by the archery community via a poll held on the World Archery Facebook page.

Mariana AVITIA was chosen as Athlete of the Year 2012 via a poll on the World Archery Facebook page. She received 40% of votes, ahead of the Americans Matt STUTZMAN (31.8%), the man without arms who won the Paralympic silver medal, and Reo WILDE (20%), who dominated the compound archery season in 2012.

Mariana AVITIA, who started shooting in 2001, is a very successful and experienced archer despite her young age. She competed in her first Olympic Games in Beijing in 2008 as the youngest athlete of the entire Mexican delegation at 14, placing 8th overall, and went on to compete in the inaugural Youth Olympic Games in 2010.

The Mexican made history at the London Olympic Games. The 18-year-old made her way to the semifinal, and played the bronze medal match against the immensely experienced Khatuna LORIG. Mariana AVITIA won the bronze medal, her first on the world scene, and Aida ROMAN the silver. The two young ladies wrote one of Mexican archery's finest hours, as these were the first two archery Olympic medals for the country.

This unprecedented Olympic success triggered a huge development and a new popularity for the sport in Mexico. Mariana AVITIA received multiple honours in her country, generating constant interest from the media. A student in communication, she is an active promoter of her sport on the social media. With a fan base of 47'000 on Twitter alone, she is clearly one of the most popular archers in the world. ### New Events Manager

The former British champion and London 2012 Archery Manager Chris MARSH has been appointed as the World Archery Events Manager as of January 2013.

Chris MARSH has been a competitive archer for more than 20 years. A former British champion and record holder, Chris MARSH has competed from club to world championship level across five continents, and has served in a variety of capacities – from volunteer to team manager – at a large number of national and international sporting events.

In 2004, Chris MARSH coached the British Paralympic Archery team in Athens, where they won two gold medals and finished top of the medals table.

A graduate in Marketing and Economics, Chris MARSH used to live and work in Luzern, Switzerland, as Regional Sales Director managing Eastern Europe for EF International Language Schools, before joining LOCOG July 2009. Chris MARSH, now fully rested after a very successful Olympic Games, said he was really delighted to be joining the World Archery Team and excited to be working in the Events Team, contributing in developing and raising the profile of archery globally.

Chris MARSH will be part of World Archery's Event Team, working closely with Juan Carlos HOLLGADO, implementing the plan and design of the competition venue, Field of Play, and assist with TV event production throughout World Archery's tournament calendar. In addition, Chris MARSH will be focusing on supporting Local Organising Committees with their event delivery, develop the Event Organisers Manual and other event technical documents and assist in the coordination and presentation of the Organisers Event Seminars.

Webinar on social media

World Archery offered a webinar on utilising social media (Facebook, Twitter, YouTube) to market archery organisations and athletes most effectively during the 2013 season. The presentation, given on 16 January by Teresa IACONI, administrator of the USA Archery and World Archery social media, was attended by 38 persons from all over the world.

This webinar gave all the latest insight on how to use Facebook, Twitter and other social media platforms. This is the best time for federations and athletes to capitalise on the latest surges of popularity for archery, by engaging with fans on social media, and turning that interest into new members and competitors, as well as media attention and perhaps even sponsor dollars. A proper use of the social media can increase the following of federations or athletes by a significant percent. Among other possibilities, these tools allow to reach reporters, broadcast news of upcoming tournaments, share photos of archers, highlight the achievements of Olympians and Paralympians, or even reach potential sponsors with interesting content that demonstrates that archery is a growing sport.

Paralympic champion and World Cup Finalist Danielle BROWN awarded an MBE

London 2012 Paralympic gold medal winner and Tokyo World Cup Finalist runner-up Danielle BROWN has been awarded an MBE in Great Britain's New Years Honours List.

Danielle BROWN, 24, won her second successive Paralympic gold medal with a thrilling victory over GB teammate Mel CLARKE in the women's compound final at The Royal Artillery Barracks. She has also won three successive Paralympic world championship gold medals since 2007.

The British archer is not only the world's best women's compound para archer, but one of the world's best among the able bodied, too – proving that beyond doubt when she won a silver medal at the 2012 World Cup Final in Tokyo. Despite such successes, Danielle BROWN remains a loyal and enthusiastic champion of Paralympic sport.

"This is such a wonderful honour, and a fantastic way to end 2012", said the proud champion. "Winning a second Paralympic Games gold medal was a tremendous thrill, and to follow that with a silver medal at the World Cup Grand Final in Tokyo weeks later was amazing. But to be told I was featuring in the New Year Honours List has just blown me away, and has made it an extra special Christmas for me."

"This is also a tribute to Paralympic archery in this country, to my GB international teammates, to my coaches, and to all the support team who work tirelessly behind the scenes."

Danielle BROWN became the second British international archer to be honoured nationally in 2012. Six time Olympian Alison WILLIAMSON received an MBE medal in the Queen Elizabeth II's Birthday Honours List back in June last year.

The MBE stands for Member of the British Empire, and is among numerous awards given to nominated achieving citizens twice a year.

Para-Archery

News from the Paralympic Committee

Following the success of the Archery section of the Paralympic Games in London, 2013 will be another important year for Para-Archery. There are now at least three World Ranking or other registered tournaments prior to the World Para-Archery Championships to take place in Bangkok in November.

To set the scene the Classification Ad Hoc Committee met for two days in Lausanne in mid-January and this was followed by a two-day meeting of the World Archery Para-Archery Committee.

High on the agenda for the Classification Committee was consideration of the number and possible combination of points necessary to be classified.

There was a concern that for some of the athletes competing in London their disability may not have significantly affected shooting a bow and arrow at the elite level. Every archer competing in the Paralympic Games in London was eligible under the current rules/points system. However, it was decided that the classification points system should be reviewed and this is now being undertaken by members of the Ad Hoc Committee.

The other major items included interviews for the position of the Head of Classification for World Archery as the previous appointment ceased on 31 December 2012, the call for nominations for the other members' positions of the Committee and nominations for the International Classifiers for the World Para-Archery Championships in Bangkok from 1-7 November.

As there is to be a modified classification system beginning in 2014, the earlier requirement to have everyone re-classified before the World Para Championships this year will not now take place.

The Para-Archery Committee received a report from the Classification Committee meeting, considered the lessons learned from London, particularly as they related to having a different venue to the Olympic archery tournament, matters to be completed for Rio 2016 including the sport classes (the different groups such as the W1 men and women with significant disabilities, W2 men and women who shoot from wheelchairs, and standing archers, also men and women), the number of medal events and the wider issues of which tournaments may be held for World Ranking Events.

The Para-Archery Committee of four (4) members will be elected at the World Archery Congress in Antalya in late September.

Nomination of new Head of Classification for the period 2013-2016

PANG Kim-Fong from Singapore has been appointed by World Archery to succeed Pauline BETTERIDGE as head of classification following the process as published last year. World Archery would like to thank Pauline for the many hours of work she did as Head of Classification over the last 12 years and has asked Pauline to remain as consultant for the Ad Hoc Classification Committee. Pang has been chief classifier at the Beijing Paralympics and also has been a classifier in the London Paralympics. Many important decisions will be made in the coming months on the Classification and also the events for the Rio Paralympics and Pang will count on the cooperation of all existing International Classifiers to assist him in improving the current classification system.

Bangkok Archery Centre

2012 Asian joint training camp

The Asian Archery Federation (AAF) and the National Archery Association of Thailand (NAAT) conducted the 2012 AAF Joint Training Program for Asian archers at the World Archery Accredited Partner Centre in Bangkok, Thailand.

The camp took place from 22-25 December 2012, with participation of 43 candidates: 7 from the compound division and 36 from the recurve division. The participants came from the following 7 countries: Thailand, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Hong Kong, Laos, Philippines, and Malaysia.

The camp was a great success due to the content of the programme and the great initiative from both parties in organising the camp. It contributed tremendously to the promotion of archery and enhanced the performances of the Asian archers. Additionally, it added to developing the capacity of teaching of the coaches, as well as increasing the number of archers and their standards.

The participants enjoyed the facilities and the accommodation services provided at the centre. They were enthusiastic and eager to learn from the experienced coach KIM Sun Bin from World Archery, assisted by Mr. Lertporn KEANCHAN, coach at the National Archery Association of Thailand.

For any further information you may require on the World Archery Accredited Partner Center Bangkok in Thailand, please contact WA Development Department, Mrs. Deqa NIAMKEY dniamkey@archery.org

Vietnam Compound team

The Vietnamese Archery Federation trained for one week at the centre in January 2013 with a delegation of 15 members. The national coach and compound team, including young archers, were delighted to train at the Bangkok Archery Centre with such great facilities and hospitality provided. The delegation trained very hard under Coach KIM Sun BIN, while their recurve team mates were taking part in an event in China. The national team of Vietnam trains at the Bangkok Archery Centre at least once a year, especially when it's the cold season in Vietnam for the preparation of major events, but also for the development of the sport.

Namibia: Intensive Training Camp at SKW Archery Range

From 5-12 January 2013, Dr Josef PREISSRE (RSA) conducted an intensive training camp in Windhoek, Namibia at the SKW Archers range.

Twelve archers from different age groups practiced and refined their basic archery skills. The camp was mainly focused on physical exercise such as warm-ups and strengthening exercises followed by shooting sessions but also equipment tuning. The participants learned how to set up and tune their equipment on their own. The 7 days of the camp took place in a sunny and warm Namibian weather, the archers practiced in the shade at some moment of the day since the temperature reached almost 40°C.

The enthusiasm and efforts of the participants didn't stop them from training and their efforts paid off. The expert noticed important improvements at the end of the training camp among the participants. The Namibian archers have a great future ahead with a strong mindset.
